

mille's fish!

this is my version of the popular patterns for fish blankets, i do not take credit for the original idea, only my revision of it.
please do not distribute or post pattern without my permission

mille's fish!

this is my version of the popular patterns for fish blankets, i do not take credit for the original idea, only my revision of it.
please do not distribute or post pattern without my permission

-  knit on right side, purl on wrong side
-  knit on wrong side
-  knit 2 together
-  slip one, knit next, pass slipped stitch over knitted stitch
-  pick up yarn between stitches on last row knitwise, knit through back loop (M1L)
-  pick up yarn between stitches on last row purlwise, knit stitch through front loop (M1R)
-  knit 2nd stitch on left needle in front of work (without slipping it off the left needle) knit 1st stitch on left needle, slip both knitted stitches off left needle
-  knit 2nd stitch on left needle in back of work (without slipping it off the left needle) knit 1st stitch on left needle, slip both knitted stitches off left needle

i knit the fish together as i go along, which means that some is knit from the tail up and some from the nose up.

this chart shows both versions as they are knit in a slightly different manner. change colour by the thick black line.

i crochet the fish together with chain stitches in a contrasting colour.